Dear Michael:

I have reviewed Peter Alsop and Bill Harley's In the Hospital program and thoroughly enjoyed it. I found it entertaining and very honest. I think that children and their families would enjoy this and it could be used as a way for families to discuss difficult issues such as deformities, cancer, and death/dying. This would also be a useful tool for pediatric physicians and nurses as a way of discussing the care of children and appreciating it from a child's perspective. Good luck with your project. I hope it all works out well.

Best wishes,
